LinkedIn posts: posters & captions

Saktheeswaran S · personal profile · 3 Nov – 2 Dec 2026

31 posts · 8 published · 1 failed · 22 not posted (saved as drafts in Typefully)

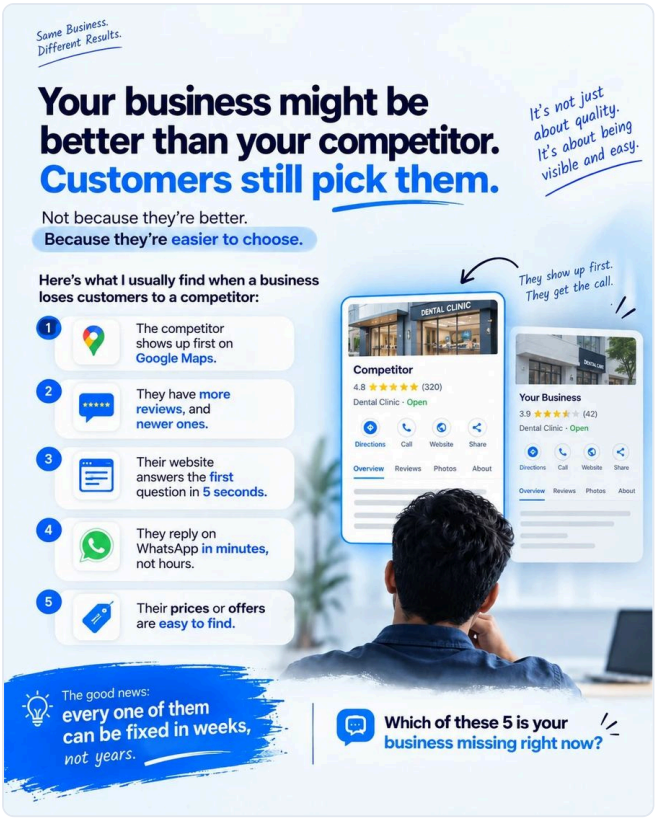

#	Date	Post	Status
1	Tue 3 Nov	Why customers choose your competitor	Published on LinkedIn
2	Wed 4 Nov	Google Business Profile: 5 fixes (carousel)	Published on LinkedIn
3	Thu 5 Nov (10 AM)	What my LinkedIn data taught me	Published on LinkedIn
4	Thu 5 Nov (evening)	Behind the scenes of my social media workflow	Published on LinkedIn
5	Fri 6 Nov	5 quick Deepavali marketing ideas	Published on LinkedIn
6	Sat 7 Nov	5 free tools every small business should use	Published on LinkedIn
7	Sun 8 Nov	Happy Deepavali (personal)	Published on LinkedIn
8	Mon 9 Nov	Myth: "We need a new website"	Published on LinkedIn
9	Tue 10 Nov	Wix vs WordPress vs custom code	Failed (Typefully monthly limit reached), not posted
10	Wed 11 Nov	3 ways to reply to Google reviews	Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)
11	Thu 12 Nov	The 7 parts of a service page that ranks (carousel)	Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)
12	Fri 13 Nov	Behind the scenes: our AI social media assistant	Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)
13	Sat 14 Nov	Children's Day: 3 business lessons from how kids learn	Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)
14	Sun 15 Nov	8 marketing terms in plain words (carousel)	Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)
15	Mon 16 Nov	Google search vs ChatGPT	Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)
16	Tue 17 Nov	5 things that make a website slow	Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)
17	Wed 18 Nov	7 questions to ask before hiring a marketing agency (carousel)	Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)
18	Thu 19 Nov	Ownership check	Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)
19	Fri 20 Nov	₹10,000 plan	Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)
20	Sat 21 Nov	18 free marketing tools	Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)
21	Sun 22 Nov	Instagram vs Google Business Profile	Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)
22	Mon 23 Nov	The 3 searches every local business must rank for	Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)
23	Tue 24 Nov	Happy Karthigai Deepam	Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)
24	Wed 25 Nov	4 free WhatsApp Business features	Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)
25	Thu 26 Nov	10 checks before any website goes live (carousel)	Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)
26	Fri 27 Nov	Black Friday: discount or value?	Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)
27	Sat 28 Nov	5 design rules	Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)
28	Sun 29 Nov	Myth: Google Ads will fix a slow month	Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)
29	Mon 30 Nov	Founder notes: 5 things nobody told me	Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)
30	Tue 1 Dec	1-hour marketing plan	Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)
31	Wed 2 Dec	Automation: what to automate first	Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)

1

Tue 3 Nov

Why customers choose your competitor

Published on LinkedIn

CAPTION

Your business might be better than your competitor.
Customers still pick them.

Not because they're better. Because they're easier to choose.

Here's what I usually find when a business loses customers to a competitor:

1. The competitor shows up first on Google Maps
2. They have more reviews, and newer ones
3. Their website answers the first question in 5 seconds
4. They reply on WhatsApp in minutes, not hours
5. Their prices or offers are easy to find

None of these are about quality. All of them are about being visible and easy.

The good news: every one of them can be fixed in weeks, not years.

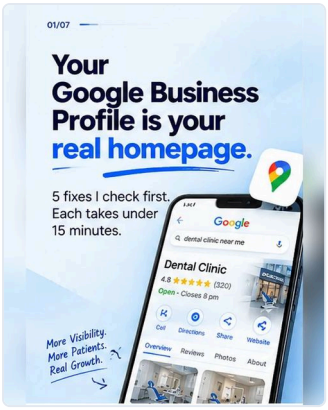

Which of these 5 is your business missing right now?

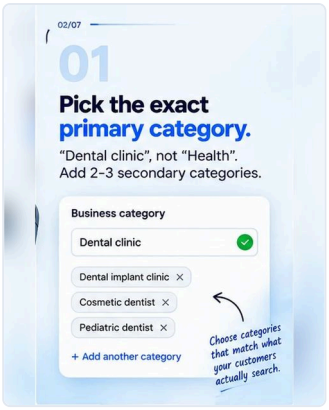

#SmallBusiness #LocalSEO #DigitalMarketing

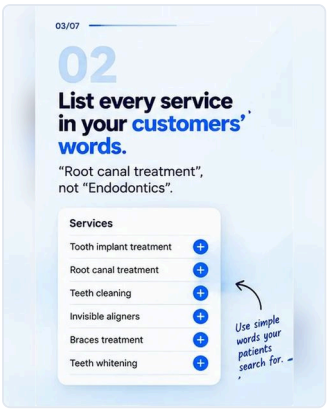

2 Wed 4 Nov

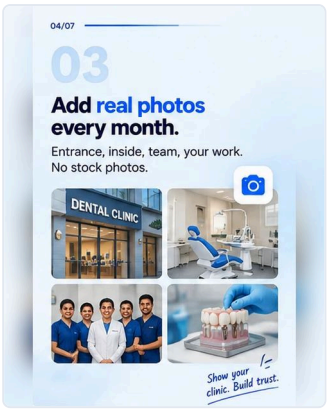

Google Business Profile: 5 fixes (carousel)

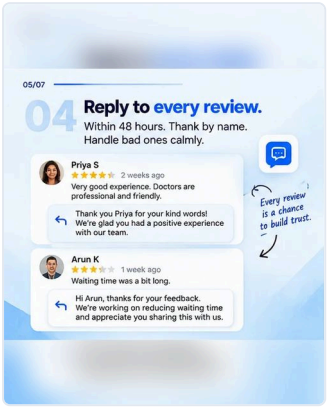

Published on LinkedIn

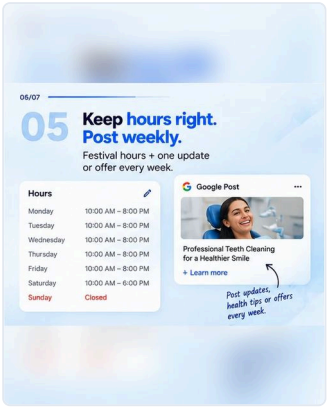

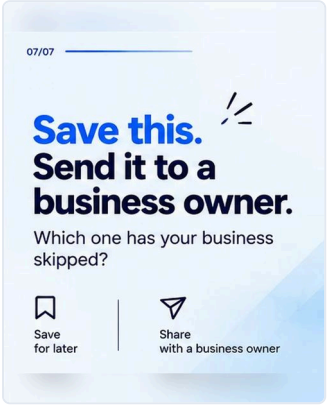

CAPTION

For most local businesses, the first page a customer sees isn't the website.
It's the Google Business Profile.

It's where people check your reviews, photos, timings and phone number, often without ever visiting your site.

Here are 5 fixes I check first on every profile. Each takes under 15 minutes. 👇

Which one has your business skipped?

#LocalSEO #GoogleBusinessProfile #SmallBusiness

3 Thu 5 Nov (10 AM)

What my LinkedIn data taught me

Published on LinkedIn

CAPTION

I checked every LinkedIn post I've made in the last few months.
The ones I worked hardest on got the least reach.

My lowest posts (13, 18, 23 impressions) were polished opinions:
"Traffic is a metric. Revenue is the goal."
"More leads won't fix a broken system."

My highest posts were:
→ The day I announced Astra Nexora (364)
→ An honest post about still learning at 21 (186)
→ A real Search Console breakdown (172)
→ "I run a full digital marketing agency. Alone." (166)

Same account. Same followers. A 28× gap.

People don't follow opinions. They follow real work, real moments and real numbers.

So from this week:
1. Useful, specific posts over general opinions
2. Clear visuals that match the idea, not the same stock-style image every day
3. One clear idea per post

What's the last LinkedIn post that made you stop scrolling, and why?

#LinkedInTips #PersonalBranding #BuildInPublic

4 Thu 5 Nov (evening)

Behind the scenes of my social media workflow

Published on LinkedIn

CAPTION

A lot happens behind a single social media post. 👀

Managing multiple brands has taught me that consistency is not just about posting regularly. It's about having a proper workflow.

Here's how I manage my day-to-day social media work:

- Plan content for different brands
- Create creatives for each platform
- Write captions that match the platform
- Manage multiple social media accounts
- Schedule posts using Buffer
- Review everything before publishing

Having the right tools makes the process easier, but strategy, creativity and final decisions still need a human touch.

My biggest takeaway: Don't just focus on creating content. Build a system that helps you stay consistent.

Still learning. Still building. Still improving. 🚀

#DigitalMarketing #SocialMediaManagement #ContentCreation #Buffer #MarketingAutomation

5

Fri 6 Nov

5 quick Deepavali marketing ideas

Published on LinkedIn

CAPTION

Deepavali is two days away.
Most local businesses will post a "Happy Deepavali" poster and stop there.

Here are 5 quick things that actually bring customers this week:

1. Set your festival hours on Google Business Profile. People check before they visit.
2. Post your offer on Google Business Profile, not only on Instagram.
3. Send one WhatsApp message to past customers. One, not one every day.
4. Put the offer and a WhatsApp button at the top of your website.
5. After the festival, ask happy customers for a Google review.

None of these cost money. All of them take less than an hour.

Which one will you do this week?

#Deepavali #SmallBusiness #LocalMarketing

6

Sat 7 Nov

5 free tools every small business should use

Published on LinkedIn

CAPTION

You don't need expensive software to run your marketing.

These 5 tools are free, and most small businesses either don't use them or don't know they exist:

1. Google Search Console
See exactly what people type on Google before they land on your website.

2. Google Analytics 4
Find out where your visitors come from: Google, Instagram, WhatsApp or ads.

3. Microsoft Clarity
Watch recordings of how people scroll and click on your site. You'll quickly see where they get stuck.

4. WhatsApp Business
Quick replies, labels and a product catalogue, all free inside the app.

5. Canva
Make your own posts, offers and posters in minutes, no designer needed.

Start with one. Most business owners learn more from Search Console in 10 minutes than from a month of guessing.

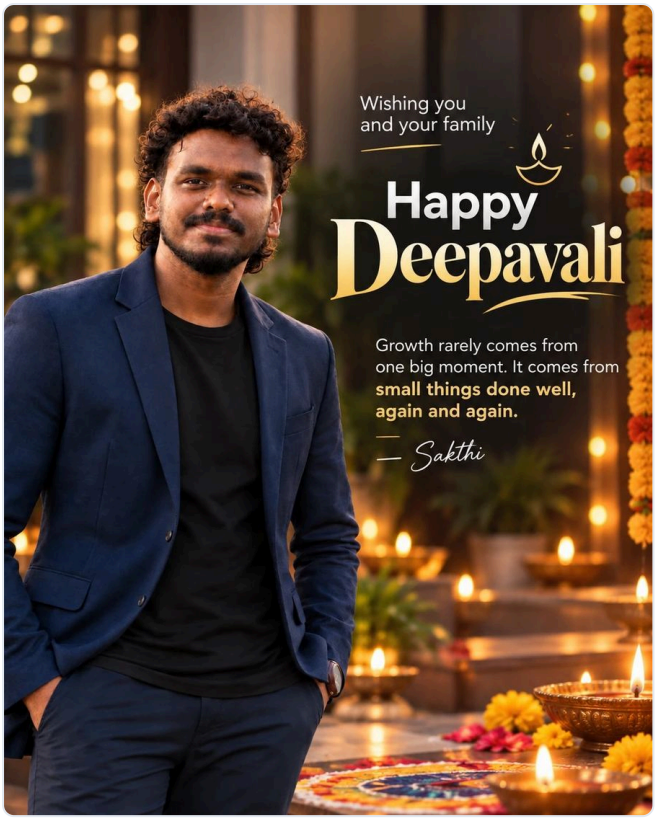

Which of these are you already using?

#SmallBusiness #FreeTools #DigitalMarketing

7 Sun 8 Nov

Happy Deepavali (personal)

Published on LinkedIn

CAPTION

Happy Deepavali 🪔

This year taught me that growth rarely comes from one big moment. It comes from small things done well, again and again.

To everyone who supported me, worked with me, or simply read my posts this year: thank you. It means more than you know.

Wishing you and your family a safe, bright and happy Deepavali.

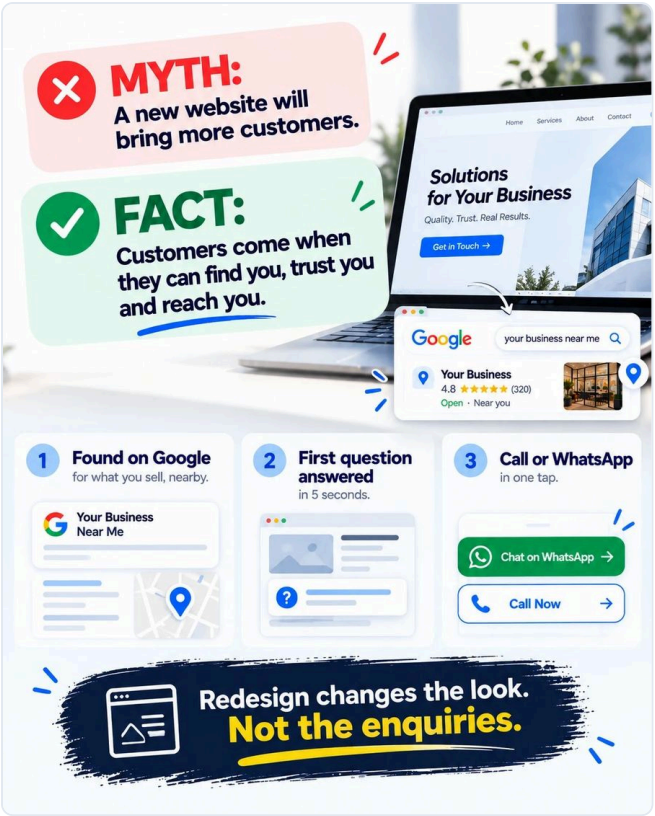

— Sakthi

#Deepavali #HappyDeepavali

8 Mon 9 Nov

Myth: "We need a new website"

Published on LinkedIn

CAPTION

"We need a new website."

It's the most common thing business owners tell me. And it's often the wrong fix.

A redesign changes how your website looks. It rarely changes the three things that actually bring enquiries.

Before you redesign, check these 3:
1. Can people find you on Google for what you sell, in your area?
2. Does the page answer their first question in 5 seconds?
3. Can they call or WhatsApp you in one tap?

If those three fail, a prettier design won't fix it.
If they pass, you may not need a new website at all.

What made you want a new website last time: looks, or results?

#WebDesign #SmallBusiness #DigitalMarketing

9 Tue 10 Nov

Wix vs WordPress vs custom code

Failed (Typefully monthly limit reached), not posted

CAPTION

"Should I build my website on Wix, WordPress, or get it custom coded?"

I get asked this a lot. There's no single best answer, but there is a right answer for your business.

Wix
✓ Easiest to start, drag and drop
✓ Hosting included in the monthly plan
× Less control, harder to grow with complex needs

WordPress
✓ Very flexible, plugins for almost everything
✓ Huge community, easy to find help
× Needs hosting, updates and security care

Custom code
✓ Fastest and fully yours
✓ Built exactly around your business
× You need a developer for most changes

The question that decides it:
Who will update the site, and how often?

Your team will edit it themselves → pick something easy, like Wix or WordPress
A few updates a month → WordPress works well
You need custom features built around your business → custom code

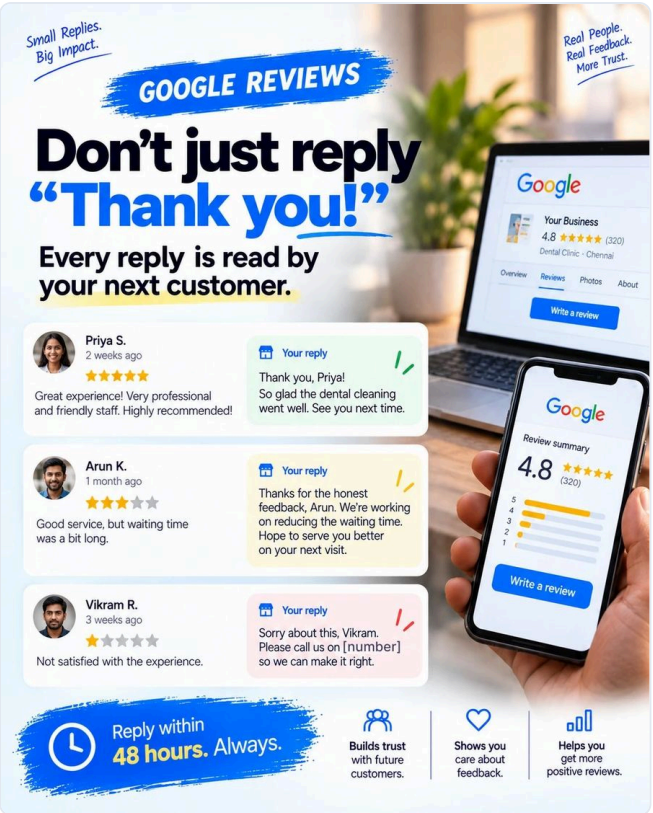

Which one is your website on right now?

#WebDesign #SmallBusiness #WordPress

10 Wed 11 Nov

3 ways to reply to Google reviews

Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)

CAPTION

Most businesses reply "Thank you!" to every Google review. That's a missed chance.

People reading your reviews are deciding whether to choose you. Your replies show them how you treat customers.

Here are 3 simple templates:

★★★★★ Good review
"Thank you, [Name]! So glad the [service] went well. See you next time."
→ Use their name and mention the service.

★★★ Average review
"Thanks for the honest feedback, [Name]. We're working on [issue]. Hope to serve you better on your next visit."
→ Acknowledge the problem. Show you're fixing it.

★ Bad review
"We're sorry about this, [Name]. Please call us on [number] so we can make it right."
→ Stay calm. Take the conversation offline.

And one rule: reply within 48 hours, every time.

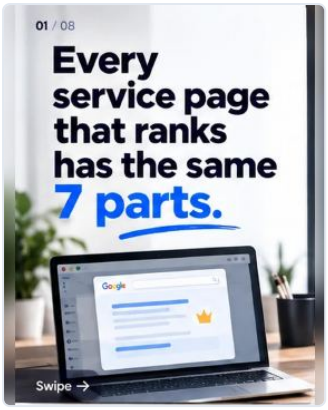

Do you reply to your Google reviews?

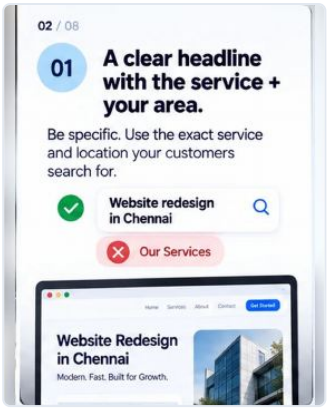

#GoogleReviews #LocalSEO #CustomerExperience

11 Thu 12 Nov

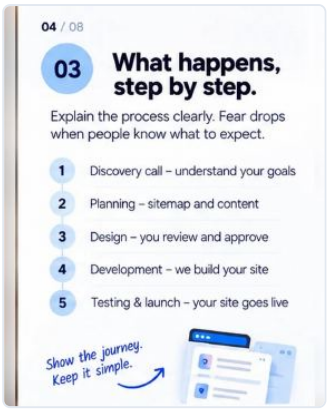

The 7 parts of a service page that ranks (carousel)

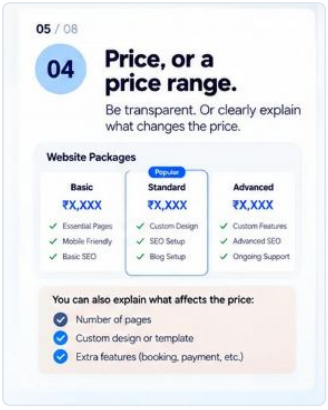

Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)

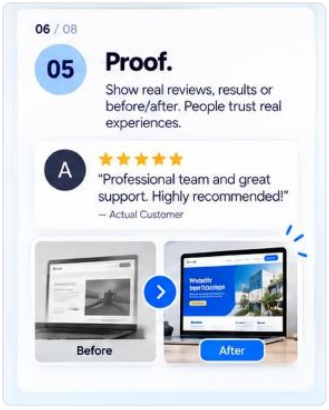

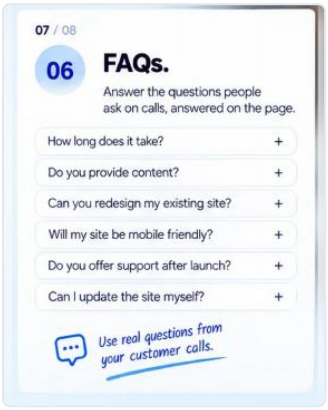

CAPTION

Most service pages say what the business does.
The ones that rank answer what the customer wants to know.

Take a page like "Website Redesign in Chennai". Every service page that ranks and brings enquiries has the same 7 parts: 👇

1. A headline with the exact service and area
"Website Redesign in Chennai", not "Our Services"

2. Who it's for, in the customer's words
"My website looks outdated." "I'm not getting enquiries."

3. What happens, step by step
Discovery, planning, design, build, launch. Fear drops when people know what to expect.

4. A price, a range, or what changes the price

5. Proof
Real reviews and before/after.

6. FAQs from real calls
"How long does it take?" "Can I update it myself?"

7. One clear next step
WhatsApp or call, visible without scrolling.

Save this before you build your next page.

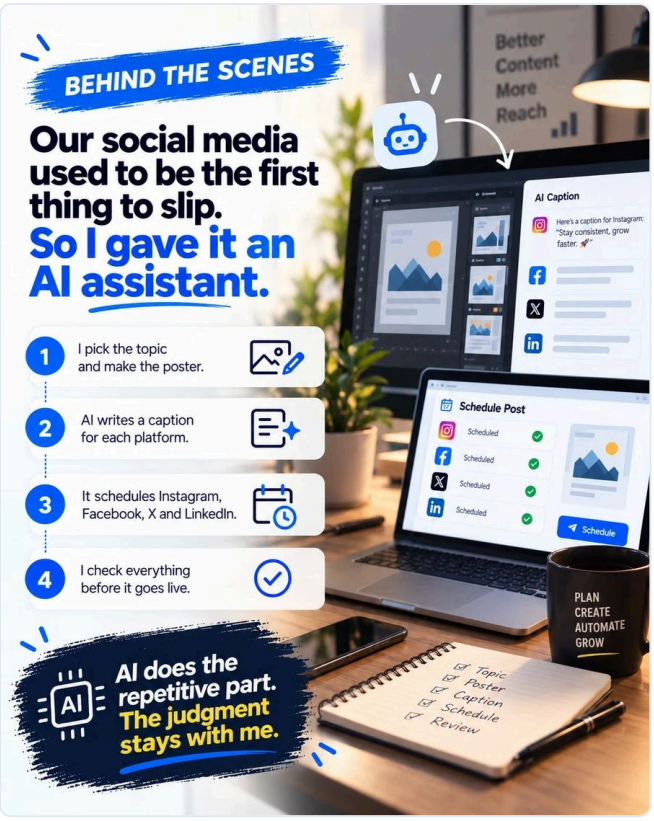

Which of these is your website missing?

#SEO #WebDesign #LocalSEO

12 Fri 13 Nov

Behind the scenes: our AI social media assistant

Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)

CAPTION

I run marketing for other businesses all day.
Our own social media was always the first thing to slip.

So I set up an AI assistant to handle the repetitive part.

Here's how it works now:
1. I decide the topic and make the poster
2. The assistant writes a separate caption for Instagram, Facebook, X and LinkedIn
3. It schedules everything at the right time for each platform
4. I check it before anything goes live

What it doesn't do: decide what we stand for, or post anything I haven't seen.

The result: I spend my time on ideas and clients, not on copying captions between apps.

Would you let AI write your business posts, or is that a line you won't cross?

#AIAutomation #SocialMediaMarketing #SmallBusiness

13 Sat 14 Nov

Children's Day: 3 business lessons from how kids learn

Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)

CAPTION

Happy Children's Day 🎈

Watch any child learn something new and you'll see three things most businesses forget:

1. They ask "why?" until they get a real answer.
Most marketing never asks why customers leave, or why they choose someone else.

2. They fall, laugh and try again.
A campaign that didn't work isn't a failure. It's data for the next one.

3. They say exactly what they want, in simple words.
If your website needs a paragraph to explain what you do, a child would do it in one line.

Stay curious. Keep trying. Keep it simple.

#ChildrensDay #SmallBusiness #Marketing

14 Sun 15 Nov

8 marketing terms in plain words (carousel)

Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)

CAPTION

Your agency's report says CTR, CPC, CPL and GBP.
Here's what they actually mean, in plain words. 👇

SEO: showing up on Google without paying for each click
Local SEO: showing up for "near me" searches and on Google Maps
GBP: your Google Business Profile, the listing on Search and Maps
CTR: of everyone who saw you, how many clicked
CPC: what you pay for each ad click
CPL: what you pay for one enquiry
Conversion rate: of every 100 visitors, how many call, book or buy
Retargeting: ads shown to people who already visited your site

If you only track one: CPL. Clicks are cheap. Enquiries pay the bills.

Which term confused you the most when you first heard it?

#DigitalMarketing #SmallBusiness #MarketingTips

15 Mon 16 Nov

Google search vs ChatGPT

Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)

CAPTION

More people now ask ChatGPT for recommendations instead of searching Google.

Same question. Two very different answers.

Google
→ Shows a list of websites and a map
→ For local results, it looks at relevance, distance and prominence
→ Ads often sit at the top

ChatGPT
→ Gives one direct answer, often with a few names
→ Tends to mention businesses that are described clearly and consistently across the web
→ People click less, but trust the answer more

The good news: the same basics help you on both.
1. Accurate Google Business Profile and listings
2. Real, recent reviews
3. A website that clearly says what you do, where, and for whom

Have you ever asked ChatGPT to recommend a local business?

#AISearch #LocalSEO #DigitalMarketing

16 Tue 17 Nov

5 things that make a website slow

Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)

CAPTION

"My website is slow because of the internet."

Usually, it isn't. It's one of these 5 things:

1. Huge images
Photos uploaded straight from a phone can be several MB each.
Fix: resize and compress them before uploading (WebP works well).

2. Too many plugins and scripts
Chat widgets, trackers, pop-ups, sliders. Each one adds weight.
Fix: remove anything you don't actively use.

3. Cheap, slow hosting
The cheapest plan is often shared by hundreds of sites.
Fix: pick hosting based on speed, not just price.

4. No caching
The server builds every page from scratch for every visitor.
Fix: turn on caching (most hosts and WordPress plugins offer it).

5. Auto-playing videos and heavy sliders
They look nice and slow everything down, especially on mobile.
Fix: use one strong image instead.

Check your site for free on Google PageSpeed Insights. Test the mobile score.

What's your website's mobile score?

#WebsiteSpeed #WebDesign #SmallBusiness

Wed 18 Nov

17 7 questions to ask before hiring a marketing agency (carousel)

Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)

CAPTION

Most businesses choose a marketing agency based on price.
Then they find out what wasn't included.

Before you sign with anyone (including me), ask these 7 questions: 👇

1. Who will actually do the work?
2. What will you report, and how often?
3. Which numbers will you measure? Enquiries, not just likes.
4. Who owns the website, domain and ad accounts?
5. What happens if we stop working together?
6. Can I see similar work you've done?
7. What's included in the price, and what's extra?

A good agency will be happy to answer all 7.
If they avoid one, that's your answer.

Save this, and ask before you sign.

Which question do you wish you'd asked earlier?

#DigitalMarketing #SmallBusiness #MarketingAgency

18 Thu 19 Nov

Ownership check

Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)

CAPTION

If your agency disappeared tomorrow, could you still log in to your website?

For many small businesses, the honest answer is no.

Check these 7 today:
☐ Domain registered in your name
☐ Hosting account login
☐ Website admin login
☐ Google Business Profile, with you as the owner
☐ Google Analytics and Search Console, with you as admin
☐ Google and Meta ad accounts owned by you
☐ A recent backup you can access

Your agency should have access as a partner.
You should own the accounts.

It's not about trust. It's about not losing years of work over one email.

Your business. Your access. Your control.

How many of these 7 do you have?

#SmallBusiness #WebsiteOwnership #DigitalMarketing

19 Fri 20 Nov

₹10,000 plan

Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)

CAPTION

If a local business gave me ₹10,000 a month for marketing, this is where it would go:

₹5,000: Google Search ads
Only for high-intent searches nearby, like "[service] near me" or "[service] in [area]".

₹3,000: website content
2 new service pages or local SEO content a month. Ads stop when you stop paying; these keep working.

₹2,000: retargeting ads
Shown only to people who already visited the website. Small budget, warm audience.

₹0: the essential free tools
Google Business Profile updates, asking for reviews, WhatsApp Business quick replies.

What's not on the list: boosting random posts for likes.

After 30 days, look at the cost per enquiry for each part, and move money to what works.

Strategy beats random posts.

How would you split ₹10,000?

#DigitalMarketing #SmallBusiness #MarketingBudget

20 Sat 21 Nov

18 free marketing tools

Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)

CAPTION

You don't need a big budget to market a small business well. You need the right tools, and most of the good ones are free.

Here are 18 I'd recommend, grouped by job: 👇

Website & SEO
Google Search Console · Google Analytics 4 · Ubersuggest

Design & content
Canva · CapCut · Pexels

Social media
Buffer · Meta Business Suite · Later

Email & automation
Mailchimp (free up to 250 contacts) · n8n (free when self-hosted) · Tally

Analytics & insights
Microsoft Clarity · PageSpeed Insights · Google Trends

Productivity
Notion · Trello · Google Drive

All of these are free or have a free plan. Limits change, so check before you sign up.

Don't try all 18 at once. Pick one from each group and use it properly for a month.

Save this for later. Which tool would you add to the list?

#MarketingTools #SmallBusiness #DigitalMarketing

21 Sun 22 Nov

Instagram vs Google Business Profile

Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)

CAPTION

Instagram or Google Business Profile: where should a local business focus first?

Instagram
→ People discover you while scrolling
→ Shows your work and personality
→ Builds trust over time

Google Business Profile
→ People find you when they're ready to buy
→ Calls, directions and reviews in one tap
→ Shows up on Google Maps and Search

Instagram builds attention.
Google Business Profile catches buyers.

For most local businesses: start with Google, then grow with Instagram.

Where do most of your customers find you today?

#LocalSEO #InstagramMarketing #GoogleBusinessProfile

22 Mon 23 Nov

The 3 searches every local business must rank for

Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)

CAPTION

Every local business needs to show up for 3 kinds of search:

1. "[service] near me"
People who want you now, nearby.
→ Comes mostly from your Google Business Profile: right category, address, hours and reviews.

2. "[service] in [your area]"
People who know where they want to go.
→ Needs a page on your website for each area you serve.
Adyar, T. Nagar, Anna Nagar, Velachery: one page each, not one page for all.

3. "[service] cost in [your city]"
People comparing before they decide.
→ Needs a page that talks honestly about price, or what changes it.

Most businesses only try for the first one.
The other two are often easier to win.

Good search = more customers.

Which of the 3 does your business show up for today?

#LocalSEO #SEO #SmallBusiness

23 Tue 24 Nov

Happy Karthigai Deepam

Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)

CAPTION

Happy Karthigai Deepam 🪔

Today, homes across Tamil Nadu are lit with rows of small lamps. None of them is bright on its own. Together, they light up the whole street.

And every one of them was lit from another lamp.

That's how I think about work too. Small, steady effort, shared with others, goes further than any one big moment.

Wishing you and your family light, peace and steady growth.

And a happy Guru Nanak Jayanti to everyone celebrating today.

— Sakthi

#KarthigaiDeepam #HappyKarthigaiDeepam #GuruNanakJayanti

24 Wed 25 Nov

4 free WhatsApp Business features

Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)

CAPTION

Your customers already message you on WhatsApp.
Most shops use only a fraction of what WhatsApp Business can do.

4 free features worth setting up today:

1. Greeting message
An automatic hello the first time someone messages you. They know they reached the right place.

2. Away message
A reply when you're closed: your hours, and when you'll get back to them. No more silent chats at night.

3. Quick replies
Save answers you type every day (prices, address, timings). Type "/" and send them in one tap.

4. Catalogue
Show your products or services with photos and prices, right inside the chat.

All 4 are free and take about 20 minutes to set up.
You'll find them in WhatsApp Business → Settings → Business tools.

Which of these are you already using?

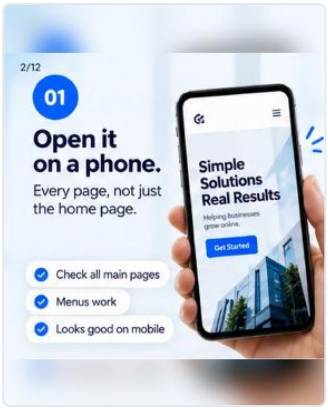

#WhatsAppBusiness #SmallBusiness #CustomerExperience

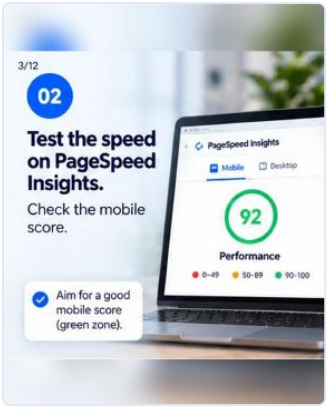

25 Thu 26 Nov

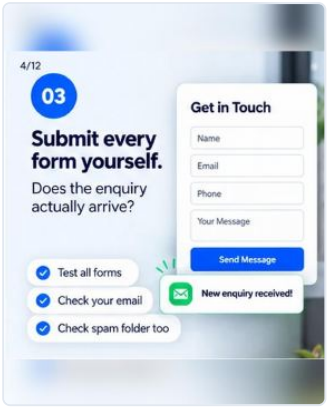

10 checks before any website goes live (carousel)

Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)

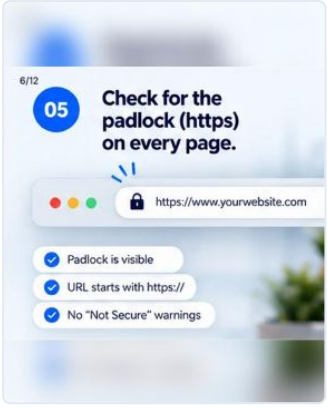

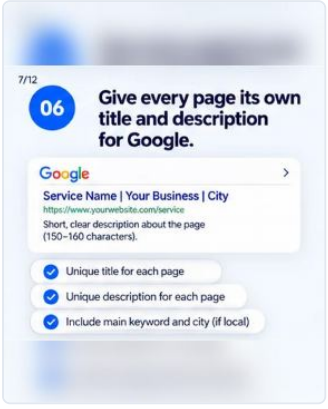

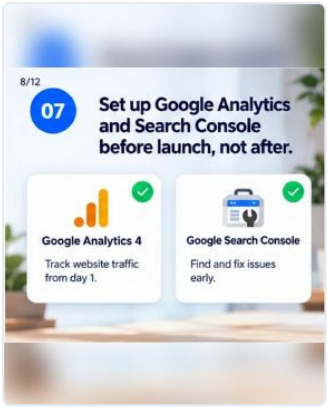

CAPTION

Before any website goes live, it has to pass these 10 checks.

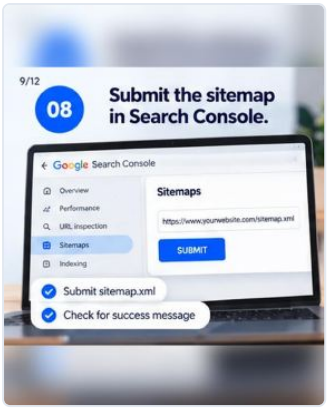

Most of them take 2 minutes. Skipping them can cost months of lost enquiries. 👇

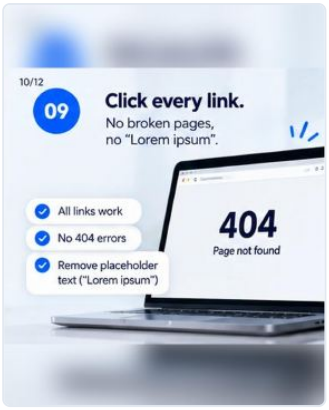

1. Open it on a phone. Every page.
2. Test the speed on PageSpeed Insights, mobile score first.
3. Submit every form yourself. Check the enquiry actually arrives (and the spam folder).
4. Tap the call and WhatsApp buttons. Right number?
5. Padlock (https) on every page.
6. Every page has its own title and description for Google.
7. Google Analytics and Search Console set up before launch.
8. Sitemap submitted in Search Console.
9. Every link clicked. No broken pages, no leftover "Lorem ipsum".
10. Name, address and phone match your Google Business Profile.

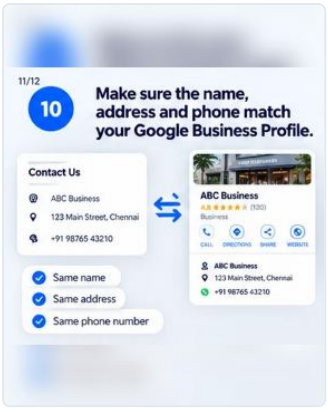

The one that's skipped most often: number 3.
A form that looks fine but never sends the enquiry is worse than no form at all.

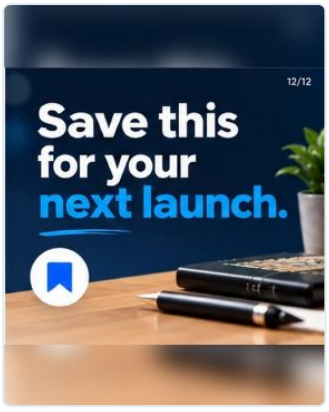

Save this for your next launch.

#WebDesign #WebsiteLaunch #SmallBusiness

9/12
08
Submit the sitemap in Search Console.
Google Search Console
Overview
Performance
URL inspection
Sitemaps
Indexing
Sitemaps
https://www.yourwebsite.com/sitemap.xml
SUBMIT
Submit sitemap.xml
Check for success message

10/12
09
Click every link.
No broken pages, no "Lorem ipsum".
All links work
No 404 errors
Remove placeholder text ("Lorem ipsum")
404
Page not found

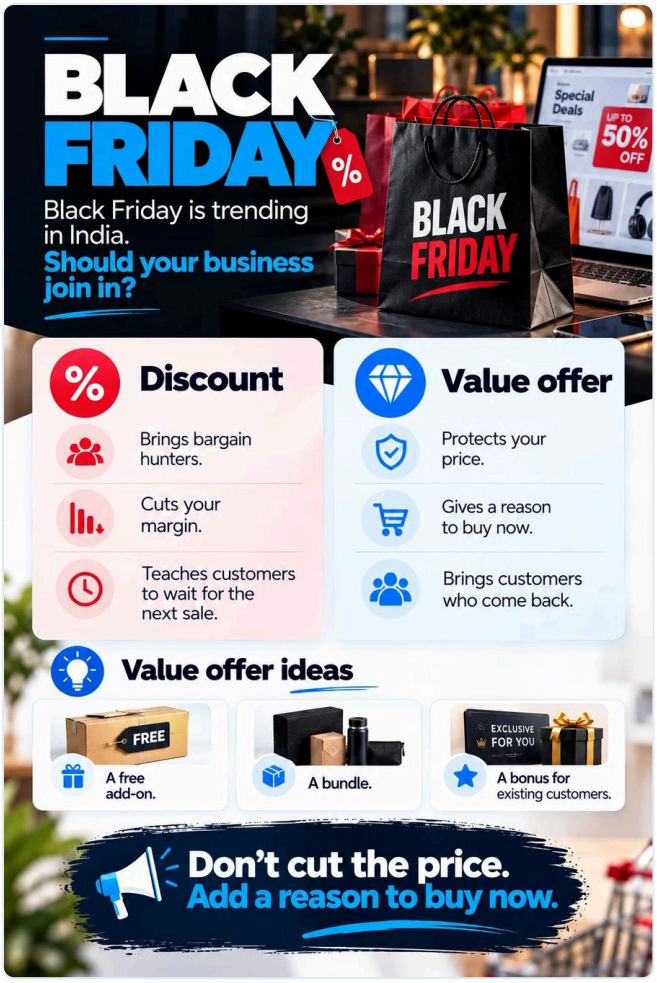

11/12
10
Make sure the name, address and phone match your Google Business Profile.
Contact Us
ABC Business
123 Main Street, Chennai
+91 98765 43210
ABC Business
Same name
Same address
Same phone number

12/12
Save this for your next launch.

26 Fri 27 Nov

Black Friday: discount or value?

Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)

CAPTION

Black Friday is trending in India.
Should your local business run a sale too?

It depends on what kind of offer you run.

A big discount
→ Brings bargain hunters
→ Cuts your margin
→ Teaches customers to wait for the next sale

A value offer
→ Protects your price
→ Gives people a reason to buy now
→ Brings customers who come back

Value offer ideas that work for local businesses:
• A free add-on with the main service
• A bundle at a slightly better price
• A bonus only for existing customers

If you do join in, don't just cut the price. Add a reason to buy now.

Are you running a Black Friday offer this year?

#BlackFriday #SmallBusiness #MarketingStrategy

27 Sat 28 Nov

5 design rules

Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)

CAPTION

Most business posts fail in the first second.

Not because the offer is bad. Because nobody could tell what it was.

5 rules I follow for every post:

1. One message per post
Not your full service list. One idea. Keep it simple.

2. Headline readable on a phone in 3 seconds
Most people see your post on a small screen, while scrolling. Hook them fast.

3. One clear action
Call, WhatsApp, visit, book. Pick one and tell them what to do.

4. The same brand colours every time
People should recognise you before they read your name. Be consistent.

5. Real photos over stock photos
Your shop, your team, your work. People trust what looks real.

If it needs explaining, it needs redesigning.

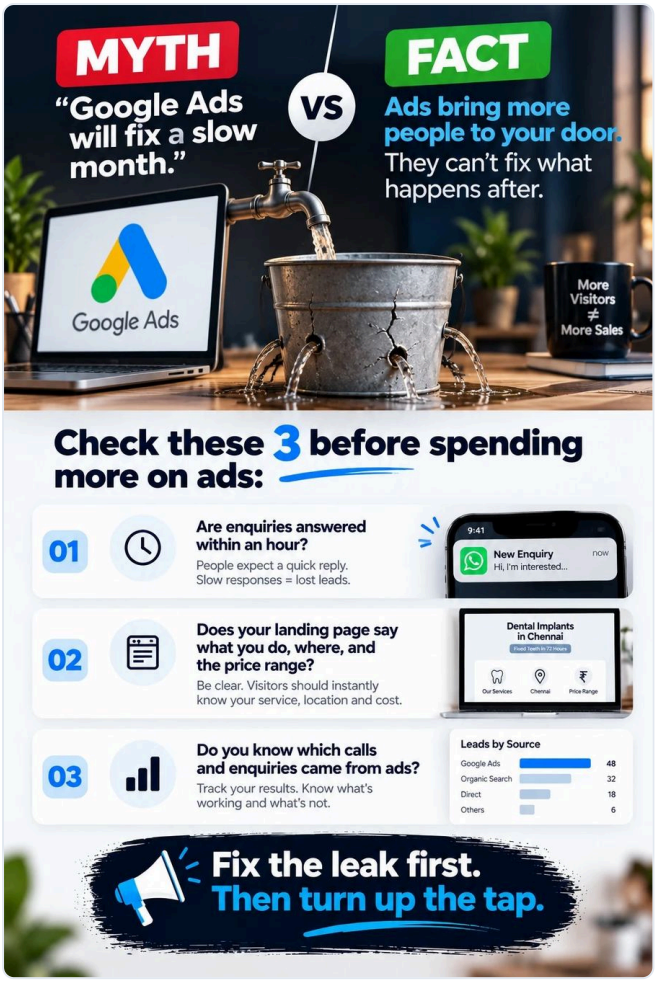

Which rule do you break most often?

#GraphicDesign #SocialMediaMarketing #SmallBusiness

28 Sun 29 Nov

Myth: Google Ads will fix a slow month

Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)

CAPTION

"It's a slow month. Let's run Google Ads."

A slow month isn't always an ads problem.

Ads bring more people to your door. They can't fix what happens after they arrive.
More visitors ≠ more sales.

Before you spend more on ads, check these 3:

1. Are enquiries answered within an hour?
A missed call or a late WhatsApp reply is a lost customer, ad or no ad.

2. Does your landing page say what you do, where, and the price range?
If people have to call to find out the basics, many won't.

3. Do you know which calls and enquiries came from ads?
Without tracking, you can't tell if the money worked.

If all 3 are fine, ads can help.
If not, more ads only mean more water poured into a leaking bucket.

Fix the leak first. Then turn up the tap.

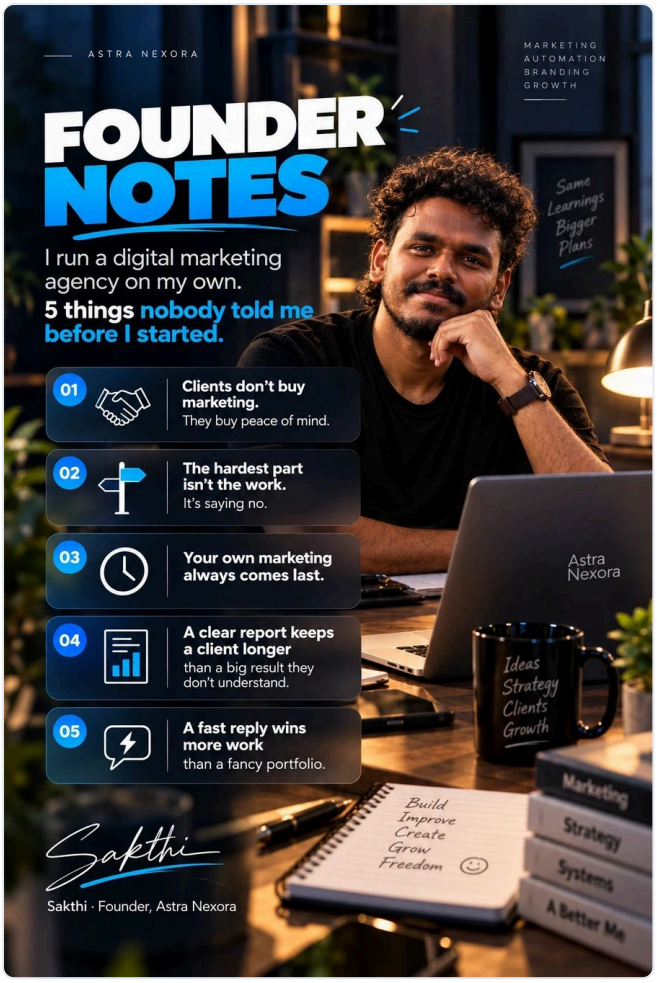

What do you usually do in a slow month?

#GoogleAds #DigitalMarketing #SmallBusiness

29 Mon 30 Nov

Founder notes: 5 things nobody told me

Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)

CAPTION

I run a digital marketing agency on my own.

Here are 5 things nobody told me before I started:

1. Clients don't buy marketing. They buy peace of mind.
They don't want "SEO" or "ads". They want to stop worrying about where the next customer comes from.

2. The hardest part isn't the work. It's saying no.
To the wrong client, the wrong project, the "small extra change" that takes a whole day.

3. Your own marketing always comes last.
I build visibility for other businesses all day. My own page was always the first thing to slip.

4. A clear report keeps a client longer than a big result they don't understand.
If they can't see what changed, it didn't happen.

5. A fast reply wins more work than a fancy portfolio.
Most people hire whoever answers first and answers clearly.

None of this was in any course I took.

Founders and freelancers: which one hits closest to home? And what would you add?

#Entrepreneurship #DigitalMarketing #FounderLessons

30 Tue 1 Dec

1-hour marketing plan

Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)

CAPTION

December is the best month to plan next year's marketing.
You don't need a 40-page plan. You need one hour and one page.

15 minutes: look back
What brought the most enquiries this year? What cost money and brought nothing?

15 minutes: set one goal
How many enquiries a month do you need? Start from that number.
Example: 50 enquiries a month is about 2 a day.

15 minutes: pick 2 channels and a monthly budget
Only 2. Doing two well beats doing six badly.

15 minutes: mark your 12 months
Festivals, busy seasons, slow months. Plan one campaign for each slow month before it arrives.

One page. One hour. A whole year clearer.

Have you planned 2027 yet, or is it a January job?

#MarketingPlan #SmallBusiness #DigitalMarketing

31 Wed 2 Dec

Automation: what to automate first

Not posted yet (draft in Typefully)

CAPTION

Most small businesses think automation means expensive AI tools.

Don't start with fancy AI. Start with the tasks your team repeats every day.

5 to automate first:

1. The first reply to every WhatsApp enquiry
An instant greeting, so no enquiry is missed and nobody waits without an answer.

2. Appointment and payment reminders
Fewer no-shows, fewer awkward follow-up calls.

3. Asking for a Google review after the job
A message after every completed job, sent the same day. More reviews, more trust.

4. A website enquiry alert straight to your phone
A new form enquiry reaches you instantly, not an inbox nobody checks.

5. Scheduling social media posts
Plan the week in one sitting and stay consistent without daily effort.

Most of these can be set up with free or low-cost tools.

Same tasks. Less time. More growth.
Automate the repetitive. Keep the personal.

Which task does your team repeat the most?

#Automation #SmallBusiness #Productivity